Performance Commentary

No portfolio transactions occurred over Q1 2026. For this period, the MDC Student Managed Investment Fund posted a portfolio return of approximately -10.0%, decreasing NAV from $95,585.41 at the end of Q4 2025 to $86,017.61 at the end of Q1 2026.

The top performer in Q1 was Energy Transfer (ET), which gained approximately 17%, supported by relative strength in the energy sector as crude prices rose and by continued expectations for growth in pipeline, Natural Gas Liquids, and export volumes. Energy Transfer also entered 2026 with several expansion projects underway, reinforcing expectations for continued cash flow growth.

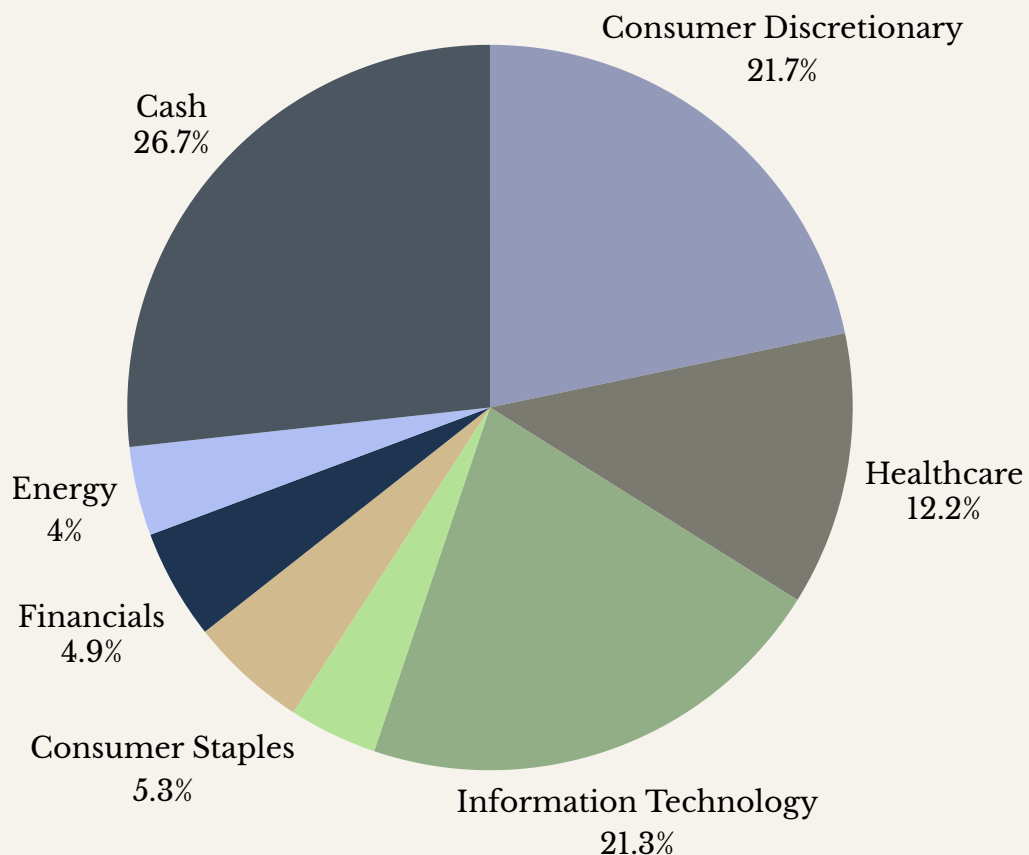

Underperformers weighed on overall results, led by Zscaler (ZS), which declined approximately 37.6% amid broader software sector multiple compression, investor concerns about AI-related disruption, and a negative market reaction despite better than expected fiscal second-quarter revenue and earnings. Salesforce (CRM) fell roughly 29.5% after issuing a fiscal 2027 revenue outlook that came in below Wall Street expectations, reflecting continued pressure on enterprise software spending and concerns around the pace of AI monetization. Celsius Holdings (CELH) declined about 22.4% as investors weighed slower growth in the core CELSIUS brand, integration-related complexity following recent acquisitions, and elevated spending associated with the company's expanded beverage portfolio.

In comparison, the S&P 500 Index posted a return of approximately -4.3% over the same period. The fund's return fell short of the benchmark by roughly 5.7 percentage points, largely driven by the underperformance in several key holdings including ZS, CRM, CELH, and UnitedHealth Group (UNH).

The portfolio's Value at Risk (VaR) is approximately 12% on a quarterly horizon (at the 95% confidence level). This indicates that, under normal market conditions, there is a 5% chance the portfolio could lose 12% or more of its value over one quarter. This metric reflects the fund's exposure to market volatility and helps frame risk in probabilistic terms for the reporting period.

Summary

Although the fund underperformed the benchmark in Q1, it maintained a disciplined and diversified investment approach.

Short-term results were affected by broad weakness across several equity positions, particularly within software and consumer-related holdings, while Energy Transfer provided a positive contribution. The fund remains focused on long-term value creation through prudent portfolio management and experiential learning.
