Performance Commentary – Q4 2025

No portfolio transactions occurred over Q4 2025. For this period, the MDC Student Managed Investment Fund posted a portfolio return of -0.92% decreasing NAV from $96,475.54 at the end of Q3 to $95,585.41 at the end of Q4. Top performers in Q4 included Advanced Micro Devices (AMD), which gained approximately 32%, driven by continued momentum in AI-related semiconductor demand and strong quarterly results, as well as Argenx SE (ARGX) up about 14% on positive developments in autoimmune therapies and pipeline progress, and Salesforce (CRM) up about 12%, benefitting from continued adoption of AI-powered CRM tools across enterprise clients.

Underperformers weighed on overall results, led by Zscaler (ZS), which declined approximately 25%, reflecting a pullback in cybersecurity valuations amid broader market rotation, Alibaba (BABA) down roughly 18% on lingering concerns around Chinese economic recovery and regulatory pressures, and Celsius Holdings (CELH) down about 20% as growth within the energy drink sector moderated following prior performance.

In comparison, the S&P 500 Index posted a return of approximately 2.70% over the same period. The fund's return fell short of the benchmark by roughly 3.62 percentage points, largely driven by the underperformance in several key holdings including ZS, BABA, CELH, and MercadoLibre (MELI).

The portfolio's Value at Risk (VaR) is approximately 12% on a quarterly horizon (at the 95% confidence level). This indicates that, under normal market conditions, there is a 5% chance the portfolio could lose 12% or more of its value over one quarter. This metric reflects the fund's exposure to market volatility and helps frame risk in probabilistic terms for the reporting period.

Sector Allocation

Summary

Although the fund underperformed the benchmark in Q4, it maintained a disciplined and diversified investment approach. While short-term results were affected by cash holdings and underperformance in select positions, the fund remains focused on long-term value creation through prudent portfolio management and experiential learning.
